Description of the activity	A group of 15 participants was living in a small cottage near a monastery in Scotland. They had a mission to clean up a small island near the monastery of rhododendrons, which have spread so much that the growth of other beings on the island was made impossible. Every day we were working on the island and spend the evenings in comfortable and relaxed atmosphere. We even had a special evening of presentations where we presented a typical dance of the country we come from and everyone had learned all the other dances. We have all become good friends during that fortnight.
Aims and objectives	I was participating on international work camp because I wanted to meet new people new culture and different ways of living. I chose an environmental work camp because I'm aware of importance of keeping our planet clean and unpolluted.
Self evaluation	Apart from quite tiresome every-day work with tools I have also recognized the meaning of working in a group and cooperation between participants, especially when they don't know each other. I have also upgraded my knowledge in English language and the culture and typical dances of different countries.
